Q No.2: Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end. Part- I carries five marks while rest of the questions carry 03 marks each.

The study of history provides many benefits. First, we learn from the past. We may repeat mistakes, but, at least, we have the opportunity to avoid them. Second, history teaches us what questions to ask about the present. Contrary to some people's view, the study of history is not the memorization of names, dates, and places. It is the thoughtful examination of the forces that have shaped the courses of human life. We can examine events from the past and then draw inferences about current events. History teaches us about likely outcomes. Another benefit of the study of history is the broad range of human experience which is covered. War and peace are certainly covered as are national and international affairs. However, matters of culture (art, literature, and music) are also included in historical study. Human nature is an important part of history: emotions like passion, greed, and insecurity have influenced the shaping of world affairs. Anyone who thinks that the study of history is boring has not really studied history.

- (i) Write down the summary of the passage.
- (ii) Write down the meanings of any three of the underlined words?
- (iii) What are some of the benefits of studying history?
- (iv) Why is human nature an important part of history.

Q No- 3: Read the following poetic lines and answer to the questions given at the end.

The sea that bares her bosom to the moon,
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers,
For this, for everything, we are out of tune.

- i: Write at least three literary devices/ figures of speech used in this stanza with examples.
- ii: Write the central idea of the given lines. Egr-7168
- iii: How can a person keep himself calm during interviews?

Q No-4: Translate the following lines into urdu.

It should, however, be kept in mind that nothing is constant except change. Everybody changes, as do our likes and dislikes. Something we loved doing two years ago may now give us displeasure. Always take time to reflect on the things in your life that you feel most strongly about. Make a list of your likes and dislikes, needs and wants.
